

PAGE
TURNERS

May 2020

H = available on Hoopla

L = available on Libby

New Releases:

Sunny Days: The Children's Television Revolution that Changed America* by David Kamp

A cultural history of children's television in the 1960s and Sesame Street – for nostalgic pop culture buffs

Hidden Valley Road: Inside the Mind of an American Family* by Robert Kolker (L)

The story of a family where six of 12 children were diagnosed with schizophrenia – a blend of biographical and science writing

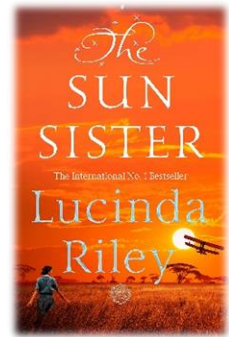

24: Life Stories and Lessons from the Say Hey Kid

by Willie Mays and John Shea

Hear from the historic baseball player in his own words – an inspirational memoir

The Sun Sister* by Lucinda Riley (available on Hoopla before print release!)

A family-driven historical fiction novel, for fans of Kate Morton or Kristin Hannah

All Adults Here* by Emma Straub (L)

An engaging and witty story of an extended family and the many modern issues they grapple with

Catherine House* by Elisabeth Thomas

A debut Gothic fiction novel set at a cultish elite university, akin to Donna Tartt's The Secret History and Kazuo Ishiguro's Never Let Me Go

Old Hits:

The Woman in the Window* by A.J. Finn (H, L)

This bestselling thriller will soon be a film starring Amy Adams, Julianne Moore, and Gary Oldman – for fans of Gillian Flynn or Tara French

Lab Girl* by Hope Jahren (L)

An acclaimed and moving memoir from a geobiologist, full of life and nature

Catherine the Great: Portrait of a Woman* by Robert Massie (L)

Hulu will soon release The Great, a satirical drama about the rise of Catherine the Great; read this biography to learn about a fascinating and monumental world leader

Dreamland: The True Tale of America's Opioid Epidemic* by Sam Quinones (L)

A must-read on opiate abuse in America – considered one of Slate's "50 Best Nonfiction Books of the Past 25 Years"

Lovecraft Country* by Matt Ruff (H, L)

An unsettling horror novel set in Jim Crow America, blending pulp noir and Lovecraftian horror – soon to be an HBO tv series

A Tree Grows in Brooklyn* by Betty Smith (H, L)

This 1943 coming-of-age novel set at the turn of the twentieth century in Williamsburg is considered a modern classic

